Experience

As a student of Cloud Computing, Applied Generative AI, and web technologies—including HTML, CSS, React, Next.js, TypeScript, JavaScript, and Sanity—I actively engage in hands-on projects and continuous learning. Utilizing cloud platforms and AI-driven solutions, I develop scalable applications and optimize web performance. I collaborate using industry-standard tools like Git and Visual Studio Code, ensuring seamless integration and maintainability. I participate in online tech communities, attend workshops, and seek mentorship to stay updated with industry advancements. My learning journey fosters a passion for innovation, problem-solving, and professional growth in modern web development and AI.
